TOMORROW'S ELECTION.

The election for governor and other state officers, members of the legislature and certain city and county officers takes place tomorrow. The campaign was practically closed last Saturday night, and the result of tomorrow's contest will perpetuate the present democratic regime four more years at least. No one entertains any serious doubt concerning the outcome, but, at the same time, every member of the party should cast his vote—the more the merrier. There never should be apathy in a party even when assured of a walk-over, and the man who makes other engagements on an election day, or in more homely language, "goes fishing" on that occasion, does not manifest the interest in his party expected of him.

The democrats of Virginia have engaged in two memorable contests during the present generation, and the incessant toll incident to both in order to achieve victories should not be forgotten, and although there is at present no Titanic struggle on us, the determination shows years ago to place Virginia in the democratic column and to keep her there should be in evidence now.

In the year 1869 the people of this Commonwealth, after having suffered from bygone rule, carpetbagging and the menagerie which at that time composed the bulk of the republican party, determined to free themselves of the shackles left on them at the close of the civil war. They found themselves confronted by a miscellaneous horde, many of whom were white adventures, and thousands of uneducated negroes, with the moral and substantial support of a radical republican administration behind them. There was but one way to throw off the incubus, and that was to make a house-to-house canvass and see that every white man was registered and on election day to be sure he deposited his ballot. For months men worked towards this great desideratum, and when the result of the election was announced the enemy found they had suffered a Waterloo. There was a rush for tickets for Salt River, and in a short time Virginia's political invaders were following in the wake of the soldiers composing the Army of the Potomac. The work of Raleigh T. Daniel, chairman of the state democratic committee in that memorable campaign, should embalm his name with the sons of Old Dominion.

Ten years later Virginia was wrested from the democrats by a fusion between disaffected members of the party (made so by the debt issue) and republicans. The administration played a conspicuous part in that movement, and federal patronage had much to do with keeping that unholy alliance together for four years. In 1888, the democratic party, marshaled under the late John S. Barbour, with an able corps of lieutenants, pursued the course resorted to on the first occasion, and in the year 1888 republicans and readjusters were placed in the same mound in the political graveyard.

While the bones of these defunct organizations have occasionally been shaken, they have, so far, caused no serious alarm. Let us keep them where Daniel and Barbour placed them.

In Winchester last Friday night Mr. Wade K. Ellis, an assistant in the office of the attorney general in Washington, spoke at a republican meeting and during his address said: "Forty years ago you used to vote as you shot. Why should you not vote as you pray?" Mr. Ellis will find out on Wednesday that Virginia people do vote both as they shoot and as they pray. Mr. Ellis during his speech took occasion to say that "the events that once divided the north and south are now long ago dead and buried memories." Is this true in the north?

MR. GEORGE O. ROUND, of MARIETTA, in a letter to the Gazette calls upon all voters in Virginia, republicans and democrats alike, to cast their votes for Mr. J. D. Eggleston, the present superintendent of public instruction to succeed himself. Mr. Round thinks Mr. Eggleston's earnestness in behalf of public instruction and the results of his thought and toil, which are so apparent, should be appreciated by continuing him at his post.

By taking out their champagne from the bonded warehouses before the new tariff became operative last night the importers escaped an additional tax of $540,000, or $360 duty on each case. But the consumers will have to pay the duty just the same.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) Washington, Nov. 1. The speaker has designated the following members of the House to attend the funeral of the late Representative Lester of the Fourth Virginia district: Messrs. O. C. Carlin and the others of the Virginia delegation, and Messrs. Graham, of Pennsylvania; Thomas, of North Carolina; Hardwick, Georgia; Austin, Tennessee; Krommiller, Maryland, and Gaudin, New York. The delegation will leave here tomorrow for Petersburg to attend the funeral.

The U. S. Supreme Court today denied a petition for a rehearing of the contempt case against Sheriff James F. Shipp, Deputy Jeremiah Gibson and Williams, Nolan, Padgett and Mayes, and directed that these men be brought to Washington for sentences on November 15. The six men were found guilty of contempt of the Supreme Court in conspiring to lynch Ed Johnson, a negro rapist, at Chattanooga, Tenn., March 19, 1906. They were adjudged guilty on the last day of the 1908 term of the Supreme Court, but were granted a stay pending petition for rehearing. At the time Johnson was lynched an appeal of the case was pending. The date of his execution had been set, but the Supreme Court granted him a stay of ten days pending its review. On the night before the date originally set for the hanging, a mob of more than 100 men broke into the jail, took the negro to the bridge over the Tennessee river, hanged him to a girder, and riddled his body with bullets. The Department of Justice immediately investigated the lynching, and as a result the sheriff, his deputy, and 26 alleged members of the mob were arrested on federal warrants. The Supreme Court had a commissioner take testimony, and upon his report all were dismissed except the sheriff, his deputy, and the four others named. They have been out on bail ever since. Never before in the history of the country has a person been summoned before the bar of the Supreme Court for sentence for contempt. On account of the unprecedented character of the proceeding there is much speculation as to the extent of punishment to be meted out.

Although army and navy officers in Washington regret deeply the fatal outcome of the Harvard-Army football game at West Point on Saturday and the critical condition of Midshipman Wilson at Annapolis, injured two weeks ago, none could be found today who would predict that these incidents foreshadow the end of the sport at the two military schools.

The prospect of a general war in Central America, with Honduras and Nicaragua pitted against Salvador and Guatemala, looms up before the State Department as a situation almost as puzzling as that in which the United States is now involved in China, over the railway loan. There is every indication that Secretary Knox will have his hands full. In the Central American difficulty continues, the peace conference signed at the last conference in Washington is likely to be knocked into a cocked hat. It has already undergone considerable buffeting. Just what course the United States will pursue is a question, but the obligations of keeping the peace in Central America naturally devolves upon this country, together with Mexico, and some sort of action on the part of the two countries is expected.

Secretary Knox, who has arrived in Washington from his summer home, received at the State Department today the members of the party of Japanese merchants and financiers who arrived in Washington on their tour through the United States. Secretary and Mrs. Knox were to be hosts at a luncheon tomorrow, but the invitations have been recalled owing to the death of Mrs. Knox's aunt in Pittsburg. In place of this function a reception will be given tomorrow by the assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Huntington Wilson. The Japanese visitors inspected the government building today and will take a trip to Mt. Vernon.

The State Department has presented to the Guatemalan government a demand for the retraction of a misleading and incorrect statement in the Diario Oficial concerning the condition of the Molvent Bank, an institution controlled by the brothers of that name of San Francisco. When the statement was published the bank suffered by the withdrawal of deposits and impaired credit. Under directions from the State Department, Charge Frazier made an examination of the books and found that the government allegations were untrue. Representations were made to the minister of foreign affairs, but he declined to make a retraction. The charged affairs of the government that a correction be made as conspicuous as the original misstatement.

Two new officials were sworn into office at the Treasury Department today. They were Lee McClung, whose name will hereafter appear on the currency of the country as the United States treasurer, and Prof. A. Platt Andrews, the new director of the mint, who is also a member of the Monetary Commission. The oath of office was administered to both of these new officials by Clerk Fitzpatrick, of the appointment bureau, who has sworn in every important Treasury officer for the last fifteen years.

Senator Aldrich, chairman of the Senate finance committee and also chairman of the monetary commission which has just returned from a study of European methods of finance, has completed his itinerary for a tour of speech-making in the west in which he will discuss the work of the commission and tell how it has approached the tremendous task which has been delegated to it of recommending a new currency system for the United States. His first speech will be delivered before the Commercial Club of Chicago next Saturday.

Virginia News.

W. Cornell, a white man, aged fifty-three years, was arrested in Leesburg Saturday by Sheriff Edwards of Loudoun county on receipt of a telegram from the prosecuting attorney of Jefferson county, W. Va., stating that Cornell had been indicted at Charlottesville, W. Va., for criminal assault. Cornell formerly lived at Kerrysville, W. Va., and had been a fugitive from justice since last July.

Judge Ingram of Richmond at Newport News on Saturday decided that Dr. O. Perkins, A. P. Pulliam and Dr. Clarence Porter Jones, as directors of the defunct Newport News Savings Bank, are responsible to the depositors to the extent of $37,289.25 because they failed, it is alleged, to see that the affairs of the institution were properly conducted. Other directors are absolved from responsibility. Irwin Tucker, former cashier of the institution, committed suicide several years ago.

Thirteen men are dead and two are dying as the result of an explosion in the mine of the Cambria Steel Company near Johnstown, late yesterday.

News of the Day.

Two Englishmen and three Chileans were recently killed and eaten by the cannibals of the Admiralty Islands.

Four persons were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a farm house near Harper, W. Va., today. The entire Hood family, father, son, daughter and grand-daughter are reported dead.

Col. Perry Carson, one of the best known colored politicians in the District of Columbia, and for years employed at the district building, died at his home yesterday of pneumonia. He was 67 years old.

Six persons were killed yesterday and twelve injured through the derailment of an electric train which was undergoing a speed test on the new railroad from Villerfrancie to Bourg-Madame, France. The train ran away and plunged into a deep ravine.

The directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at a meeting in Philadelphia today voted to issue additional stock to the amount of $79,397,162, or 25 per cent of the present capitalization. The road today declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent.

Col. S. Edwinton Peabody, formerly a banker of international reputation, died Saturday night at Salem, Mass. Col. Peabody was formerly a partner in the American banking firm of J. S. Morgan & Co., of London, which was successor to the firm of George Peabody & Co.

Twelve men were killed in the Cambria Steel Company's coal mine, 2 miles from Johnstown, Pa., last night, as the result of what is supposed to have been a dynamite explosion. Three men escaped with their lives by a perilous climb on life ladders, through poisonous mine gas and falling slate, up the walls of the main shaft.

Dr. William J. Terwilliger and Robert Welch, a real estate dealer, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., were instantly killed, and Gilbert Rhodes, a law student of Milton, N. Y., was probably fatally injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Long Island passenger train at Lynbrook yesterday. The party was returning from Long Beach, a seashore resort, and apparently tried to pass the railroad crossing ahead of the passenger train.

John Hollis, 22 years old, and his wife, May, 17 years old, who went to Chicago two months ago from New York, drank carbolic acid in a vain attempt to kill themselves yesterday because they had no money. Probably because carbolic acid stronger than 33 per cent cannot be sold in Illinois except on prescription, both are recovering. Hollis and his wife agreed to end their lives after weeks of fruitless search for employment.

President Taft ended his river trip on Saturday reaching New Orleans that evening, and was enthusiastically received and entertained. He made an address before the waterways convention that afternoon, in which he reiterated what he had said before, that he favors the issuance of bonds to carry forward every deep waterway project which shall be approved by a competent board of engineers as practicable and can be shown necessary to take care of the growing commerce of the sections.

Because of the death of Eugene A. Byrne, of Buffalo, N. Y., no more football will be played by the West Point eleven this year. This statement was made by Col. Hugh L. Scott, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, late last night, after a consultation with the athletic authorities of the academy. Byrne expired yesterday morning of injuries sustained in the Harvard game Saturday. Cadet Earl Wilson, injured in a manner similar to Byrne two weeks ago, is in a critical condition at Annapolis.

THE ELECTION.

Elections will be held tomorrow in many states and cities throughout the country. Three states will elect governors and full state tickets, namely, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Virginia. New Jersey will elect both branches of the legislature, Pennsylvania will elect a state treasurer, and Nebraska will elect two justices of the Supreme Court and three university regents. In point of interest and excitement, the great metropolitan cities, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco, except that of the state contests, except in Maryland, where the disfranchising constitutional amendment is a very important issue. The contest in Baltimore is also very interesting.

Each of the three candidates for mayor of New York declares that he will be elected tomorrow. The campaign in Virginia has been marked by unusual apathy this year. The candidates to be elected are a governor, lieutenant governor, members of the house of delegates and other state officers. The democratic ticket is headed by Judge William Hodges Mann. The republican nominee for governor is Wm. P. Kent and the socialist labor party has nominated A. K. Bennett for governor.

JUBILEE IN RICHMOND CHURCH

The diamond jubilee of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Richmond, which was for years the Cathedral Church of the Diocese of Richmond, and from whose walls have gone forth some of the most celebrated church dignitaries in America—Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Keane and Janssens, Bishop Van de Vyver the present head of the diocese, and Bishops Kelley, O'Donnell, Berry, McGill, and Whelan—was begun yesterday with appropriate services. There will be further services today. The church celebration will be followed by a seven-day jubilee festival.

REGISTERED MAIL REGULATION

By order of the postmaster general notice is given that on and after November 1st, the fee for registering mail matter will be ten cents for each piece in addition to the regular postage, both being in all cases prepaid. And, further, that the maximum amount of indemnity which may be paid for loss of domestic registered mail matter of the first class will be fixed on and after said date at $50.

THE GLASS-KENT CHARGES.

The charges made by Congressman Glass, of Lynchburg, that Mr. W. P. Kent, the republican candidate for governor, have been made public. They are that Mr. Kent sold two tracts of land in Kentucky for his late kinsman, David C. Kent, of Pulaski county, and his kinswoman, Mrs. Pauline McGavock, of the same county, for $4,000 cash; that he reported that he sold but one tract at $2,000 and had failed to establish title to the second tract, although the deed book of Ballard county, Kentucky, shows that he sold both tracts at the same time and conveyed them both in the same deed. Captain Kent retained $500 as fee and expense account on his reported sale of $2,000 for one tract of land and retained the entire amount of $2,000 which he received for the other tract, the sale of which he did not report at all, but title to which he said could not be established.

The documents show also that Captain Kent materially falsified his expense account. He not only was compelled by Randolph H. Bain, an attorney of Louisville, Ky., to make restitution of the $2,000 received for the second tract of land with interest to the time of settlement, but was made to correct his falsified expense account and to pay interest on the excess from the date of the deed to the time of settlement, which was two years thereafter.

The documents further show that Captain Kent transferred both tracts of land in a single deed on June 27, 1883, under power of attorney, for $4,000 in hand delivered, and, yet nearly four months thereafter, on the 16th day of October 1883, he wrote Mrs. Pauline McGavock to the effect that he had litigated in the courts and failed to establish title to one of the very tracts of land that he had already sold, and for which he had received cash payment.

Before having received the charges, but hearing of them, Mr. Kent published a denial of any wrong doing, stating that the whole matter originated in the sale of a piece of property in which he acted as attorney. After reading the charges made by Mr. Glass Mr. Kent replied as follows:

"Have just seen the papers containing the implied charges that I appropriated or attempted to appropriate a certain sum of money in a legal transaction of twenty-six years ago. Were there the least semblance of truth in the matter there would, of course, have been action and punishment which the records would show. There is no such record. There was no such action or punishment. I have fully explained all the essential facts in the case as I recall them in a statement printed in full, and I wish to further emphasize the statement by the declaration that there was no fraud or intended fraud in the transaction referred to. I shall prosecute to the full extent of the law any persons or papers using false and malicious statements designed to injure me before the voters of the state. I condemn as a most damnable outrage this eleven-hour attempt to besmirch the character of a man whose every act of an honorable career is open to the fullest scrutiny. I ask for this declaration the same prominence in your columns as that given to the implied charge."

Representative Glass after reading the statement sent out from Roanoke by Mr. Kent pronounced his statement "a lie contrived fabrication from beginning to end."

Mr. Glass says: "I made the same assertion repeatedly throughout Virginia in my public speeches, and Kent was supported of the fact long ago. Having indisputable proof of his personal dishonesty, I felt an obligation to my state and my party to utter that one sentence of warning."

DEATH OF CONGRESSMAN LASSITER.

Representative Francis R. Lassiter, of the Fourth Virginia district, died suddenly at his room at the Elk's Club, in Petersburg yesterday evening, aged 44. He awoke yesterday morning complaining of feeling badly, but his friends did not think his illness was serious. He spoke at a democratic barbecue, given at Waverly, Sussex county, Saturday.

Francis Rives Lassiter was born in Petersburg on February 18, 1866, and was a son of Dr. Daniel W. Lassiter. He graduated in 1886 at the University of Virginia with the degree of bachelor of law. In the spring of 1888 he was elected city attorney for Petersburg, and by successive re-elections he held the office until he resigned in 1893 to accept the office of United States district attorney for the Eastern district of Virginia, which was tendered him by President Cleveland.

In 1892 he was a presidential elector. His energy in behalf of democracy was appreciated by Mr. Cleveland in 1892, but when the same elements were set to work in behalf of the democratic nominee in 1896 he was, in effect, commanded to retire from politics, and the intimation was that the penalty for refusal would be removal from office. Mr. Lassiter did not hesitate to subordinate his personal interests and retired from office to work in behalf of his party.

Mr. Lassiter was a lawyer of ability and a man of letters. He was appointed supervisor of census for the Fourth district in the spring of 1900, but resigned the appointment when he was elected to Congress on April 19 of that year, to fill the unexpired term of the late Sidney P. Epps. At the democratic convention held in Petersburg on March 29, 1900, to make the nomination for the unexpired term he was also nominated for the full term, and was re-elected to Congress by a majority of about 4,000. Representative Lassiter was re-elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses.

Frenchman Breaks Record.

London, Nov. 1.—In a vain attempt to wrest the Michelin tire trophy from Farman the French aviator, M. Paulhan today broke all English distance records by flying his Voisier plane 96 miles at Brooklands. Paulhan was in the air three hours, and was forced to descend because his petrol gave out. Mr. Farman's record for the Michelin trophy was 117 miles.

Today's Telegraphic News

The Election. Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.—The real issue of the present campaign which closes tomorrow is the question of what the liquor interests will do. They have it in their power, it is conceded, to defeat the democratic candidate for governor, Judge William Hodges Mann, who holds prohibition views, but Senator Thomas S. Martin, the democratic leader, is reported to have gotten the liquor men into line, and he declared today the democratic ticket will win by a "normal plurality." It is doubtful, however, that the plurality will be much more than 25,000.

Buried in Paris Sewer.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The sewers of Paris, through which Hugo's "Jean Valjean" struggled to safety, threaten to destroy practically every house in the Montmartre quarter. The population of the quarter is terrified by the decision of engineers that there are a number of undergrounds similar to that which on Saturday formed a hole large enough to swallow a six-story apartment house when it caved in. Rescuers are working frantically in the hope of saving Madame Chevalier, who was engulfed in the cave-in. She is believed to be alive in one of the sewers with which the cave-in must connect, or in a pocket of the cave-in, cut off by the ruins of the house. The rescuers are constantly in danger because of the possibility that surrounding houses, which are undermined, may collapse.

This afternoon the authorities forced the rescuers to suspend work and leave Mme. Chevalier if she is still alive to her fate. The engineering department of the city took the attitude that the saving of the lives of hundreds in the quarter was of more importance than the possibility of saving Mme. Chevalier even if she were buried alive. Engineers at once set to work to fill in the cave-in, and secure the foundations of undermined buildings in the neighborhood.

Football Fatalities.

New York, Nov. 1.—Three deaths resulting from last Saturday's football games have served to call attention to the fact that this season promises to furnish the most gruesome list of deaths, and accidents of any in the history of football.

Already there have been seven deaths, with the most severely contested games yet to be played. The deaths include Cadet Eugene A. Byrne, of West Point; Michael Burke, of the Medical-Chirurgical College, of Philadelphia; Roy Spy-buck, a Haskell University Indian; Raymond P. Thurston, Cambridge, Mass.; Clarence Pierce, Wilmington, Del.; Charles B. Kinsam and Win Loden, Woodland, Cal.

A summary of other injuries so far reported this year shows six young men to be suffering from what are believed to be fatal injuries, 22 broken collar bones, 15 broken legs, 16 broken noses, 9 broken ankles, eight victims of broken ribs, 7 broken shoulders, six broken fingers, six broken arms, 1 broken wrist, 1 broken hand, 2 broken jaws.

Serious Conditions in Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 1.—With armed mountaineers and feudists patrolling the streets of Jackson and guarding every mountain pass leading to that city, and state troops plying against them, a serious and bloody conflict is feared at the election in Breathitt county Tuesday. The sudden ordering out of the state troops Sunday followed the sensational stealing Saturday by an armed body of men of all the ballots printed for Tuesday's election and the carrying of them away to a remote part of the county. Hardly had this coup been effected and the news spread to the mountain districts, when the loyal partisans of both democrats and republicans began to pour into Jackson heavily armed and menacing bloodshed.

Ed Callahan, the feudist, is declared to be the real power behind the movement on the part of the democrats to regain control of local offices. The stolen ballots were turned over today to the proper officials and taken to the respective precincts.

Suits for Damages.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 1.—Graded beyond endurance by the malicious and slanderous statements circulated in an attempt to injure his wife's good name, according to a statement made by a friend of Alfred I. Dapont, vice-president of the Du Pont Powder Company, and a millionaire several times over, the powder magnate has brought two suits in the Superior Court for damages for slander. The defendants named in the case are Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford Du Pont, widow of the late Dr. Alexis Du Pont, and mother-in-law of Thomas F. Byard, son of former Ambassador Byard, and Mrs. Mary H. J. Bash. Since his marriage to his present wife, Mr. Du Pont and she have been practically ignored by other members of the Du Pont family. $200,000 it is said will be the amount of damages asked by Mr. Du Pont.

Bitten by a Rattlesnake.

New York, Nov. 1.—With three doctors working over him, Albert Pierce, of Hisselton, Pa., a snake charmer, lies near death in Postgraduate Hospital today from a bite on the hand by a rattlesnake. Pierce was exhibiting his snakes at a local museum last night, dressed in Indian costume as "Chief Yellow Boy." When the rattler struck him on the finger the crowd rushed toward the door. "There's no danger," he shouted in good English. "I'm not hurt." He was driven to Bellevue in a cab and the wound cauterized. Shortly after he returned to the museum his arm began to swell and he became unconscious.

Lying in State.

Tokio, Nov. 1.—The body of Prince Ito, slain at Harbin by a Korean assassin three days in state in his residence. A remarkable demonstration received the body of the prince which arrived here this morning, escorted by a few of the most intimate friends of the dead statesman, including Premier Katara and Count Inouye. A state funeral, such as heretofore has been accorded only to members of the royal family, will be held on Thursday. Until then the body will lie in state.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 1.—The market held fairly strong all through the first hour with prices showing gains of fractions to 2 points. The most important trading was in steel districts. The market became extremely quiet during the late forenoon. Prices on the majority of issues shaded off a little from the highest of the first hour.

The Market.

Georgetown, D. C. Nov. 1, Wheat 106-117

Two bombs were exploded last night in downtown buildings in Chicago occupied by gambling clubs. The bombs were the thirty-second and thirty-third that have been hurled in gambling establishments within the last two years. No one was injured, but many windows were broken and store stocks were damaged. All the bomb throwings are said to be due to a quarrel between syndicates of gamblers.

Help Us "Whoop It Up" Like Sixty.

There was once a man who came to this city with $5.00 in his pocket and advertised in the daily paper in the ordinary way for a situation. After six days with no response to his ad. and with only five cents left, in the fear of necessity he inserted this appeal: "Is there a job on top of God's green earth for a man who must have work?" The next morning there were SIXTY positions offered him.

NOW THEN, if possible, we want to accomplish with enterprise and energy just what the man above did through fear and necessity.
